

League of Women Voters of California Education Fund
Education Update Study 2003-2005

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This study has been quite an adventure. It would not have been possible without the support of the following organizations and individuals. They have not only our thanks, but also our deep appreciation. In all cases they have expressed their pleasure that the League has engaged in this study and contributed their time and resources willingly and generously.

- The William and Flora Hewlett Foundation for their generous support of the League's work by awarding a grant to fully fund this study, and for their support of education research and reform. Interaction with other Hewlett grantees has unquestionably added to the depth and quality of this study and to the League's involvement with issues of public education in California.
- EdSource for its in-depth, balanced research and its commitment to making complex education issues understandable. EdSource materials have been reviewed extensively by committee members, and EdSource board members and staff have been actively supportive throughout the study.
- Stephan Blake, Chief Consultant to the Joint Committee to Develop a Master Plan for Education, for providing bound copies of The California Master Plan for Education for all local Leagues in the state of California, state study committee members, the state office, and board members or consultants.
- Charles Ratliff, former consultant to the Joint Committee to Develop a Master Plan for Education, for providing study committee members with copies of the final recommendations of the Joint Committee to Develop a Master Plan for Education, as well as reports and materials compilations of all Joint Committee working groups.
- Michael Rich, Executive Vice President of the RAND Corporation, and the RAND Corporation for providing committee members with copies of recent research publications.
- The Legislative Analyst's Office for sharing its research publications.

During the course of this study, committee members conducted a wide range of interviews. In all cases, committee members have been appreciative and impressed by the openness and candor of the people interviewed, as well as their willingness to take time from their very busy schedules to spend generous amounts of time with committee members.
